A YEAR OF EXTREMES.

1911 was a year of extremes Beginning with May, the summer was an extremely dry one. On the Bard of August the rains set in, and from that time on we had copious and frequent downpours The autumn was a warm making a wonderful growth of fall day. See Pierce's Cut Price Ladies pasturage, and the first killing frost came in the last days of October. Then the month of November was an extremely cold one, followed by a mild, wet December.
